ECV2022 is an international multidisciplinary conference sharing research about innovative methods, theories and partnerships with children, families and practitioners that supports social justice during early childhood and within the early childhood sector.

International speakers will present research in a virtual online space about innovations to improve the lives of children, families and practitioners during early childhood (birth-8 years) and within the early childhood sector.

Abstract submission closes 19 September 2022.

ECV2022 will be held entirely online and asynchronously; that is, you can watch the presentations anytime in across any time zone.

There is no registration fee and no fees to present or view the presentations.

ECV2022 is organised by the Charles Sturt University Early Childhood Interdisciplinary Research Group. Further details: <https://earlychildhoodresearch.csu.domains/early-childhood-voices-conference-2022/>
