Early Childhood Voices Conference 2022

The Early Childhood Voices Conference 2022 (ECV2022) is an international multidisciplinary conference, working to support social justice during early childhood and within the early childhood sector.

The conference features international speakers in a virtual online space, covering topics like innovative methods, theories and partnerships with children, families and practitioners.

The conference is held entirely online and at participants own pace – meaning you can watch the presentations anytime, anywhere across any time zone.

What's more, its free to register. Enjoy free access to presentations and to participate in submitting abstract pieces for presenting ECV2022 is organised by the Charles Sturt University Early Childhood Interdisciplinary Research Group.
